

How do we know certain details about our network physicians?

Our credentialing department checks information about a physician before the physician joins our provider network. We collect the following information when a physician applies to join our network, and then we confirm it. At least every three years, we re-check the information to make sure it is still accurate. We also update information within 30 days if a physician tells us of a change. We make this information available so you have access to details about the physicians in our provider network.

GLOSSARY OF CERTAIN TERMS

SPECIALTY

This tells which health care services the physician offers. It is the physician's education, training and expertise in a specialized area of medicine. A primary care physician is your general doctor who oversees your care. A specialist physician provides health care services for a specific condition or part of the body.

AFFILIATIONS

A physician is affiliated with a hospital if the physician is a part of the hospital's medical staff. Our network physicians also let us know what medical groups they are part of.

CERTIFICATION AND MEDICAID PROVIDER DETAILS

Our network physicians are encouraged to be board certified. Board certification shows a physician's exceptional expertise in an area of practice. According to the American Board of Medical Specialties, board certification challenges physicians to continually develop their skill set, especially those skills that help them to perform well in physician groups and community settings.

ACCEPTING NEW PATIENTS

Our network physicians let us know whether they are available to see new patients.

LANGUAGES

Our network physicians let us know which languages are spoken in their offices, either by a physician or by other clinical or nonclinical staff.
